Change

Times change, Institutions change
with the times,
People change
with the institutions.

What effect changes will have on the future
only time will tell.
— and the times
do change.

Edward P. Vonderhaar
Vice-President, Director of Public Relations

Death . . .
The change from one life to another.
— A revival of the spirit.

Due recognition of significant contribution, ceaseless dedication and unquestionable professionalism often comes from the public too late. We are now beginning to realize more than ever, through the void created by absence, how much Dr. Edward Doering, Mr. Robert Cissell and Mr. Edward Vonderhaar gave of themselves to the Xavier University Community. Words do not adequately express the gratitude of the countless students, faculty and friends who were profoundly touched by these men's lives.

Robert F. Cissell
M.S., Professor of Mathematics

Edward A. Doering
S.J.D., Assistant Professor of English

Death often comes swiftly, too swiftly,
too early.
In the fall of 1972,
Thomas Jenkins, Jr.
met death suddenly,
a victim of a robbery.
Though his death was sudden, memories of Tom will live on for years to come.

Trustees Announce End of Football

On December 19, 1973, the Xavier University Board of Trustees ended a 73-year old tradition by voting to discontinue Intercollegiate Football at Xavier University. The Board vote was 15-3, with Rev. Robert W. Mulligan, S.J., the Rev. Paul L. O'Connor, S.J., and Mr. Michael J. Conatin urging continuation of the football program.

"This was an exceedingly difficult decision for the board to make," said Father Robert W. Mulligan, President of the University, "but costs of intercollegiate football have grown so high, virtually tripling in the last decade, that we now find it impossible to sustain this program without incurring an annual deficit of at least $200,000. Quite simply, today's action is the inevitable result of this financial squeeze and our primary responsibility of maintaining Xavier University in a sound financial position."

— Xavier News, January 9, 1974

Death assumes many forms.
As achievements reach new highs,
the bottom seems to fall out.
Mysteriously, though,
death gives way to life
— at times,
very mysteriously.

Officials React To Football's End

Vice President Roderick C. Shearer feels that "the decision of the Board of Trustees must be accepted as being in the long-range best interest of this University . . . I deeply feel and understand the bitter disappointment of many of our students and alumni. We are not the first university, nor will we be the last, to discontinue the longstanding tradition of football."

Echoing Mr. Shearer's statement was Mr. John Rothwell, Vice Chairman of the University Senate, who felt that "in the long run the discontinuance of football will make no difference." According to Mr. Rothwell, the financial problems of Xavier dictated the move.

Father Edward O'Brien, Special Assistant to the President, had this reaction. "Considering the climate we have today and the reaction of many parents, dropping football isn't as disastrous as it would have been a few years back."

Shock and disappointment.

These two words best express the initial reaction of Head Football Coach Tom Cecchini and Athletic Director Jim McCafferty to the decision of the Xavier Board of Trustees to abandon football at Xavier.

"I (Cecchini) thought we gave the university a new hope, a new life for the football program, turning things around this year. I thought they were very disappointed in previous years because we were doing so poorly and the attendance wasn't good. But since we did turn things around at the end, I thought they might see some light at the end of the tunnel."

Was the Trustees' decision a surprise? Jim McCafferty, reached at his home shortly after the conversation with Cecchini, said, "Yes."

Various groups at the university have made studies. Most of these groups have found that we should continue football at the level we were at. The decision from the Board of Trustees was otherwise.

(All articles on this page from Xavier News, January 9, 1974)

News: When did you first find out about the decision, and what were your reactions?

Wanstrath: I didn't know about the thing until I got the telegram (from Xavier). I didn't really know what all happened. I read about it in the paper the next day and I still didn't know what all happened. Then some schools started to call to see if I wanted to play for them. I finally called Coach Cecchini and he told me about it.

Bailey: I left Xavier in the afternoon and got home that night about 8 o'clock. At the end of the 11 o'clock news they announced that Xavier had dropped football, and I was really shocked. I didn't believe it, so I called up a local sportscaster the next day and he told me it came over the wire. I didn't believe it, but he told me they (the wire services) are usually accurate.

Changes seldom come easy . . .

Worthwhile change

People!

A revival is people:
people searching for,
and finding,
themselves;
people adapting to surroundings;
people being people.
And there are no people anywhere who quite measure up to Xavier people.

Homecoming, November 2nd and 3rd, featured a semi-formal dance at Schueler's Ballroom Friday night, and the Xavier-Dayton football game Saturday afternoon. The weekend was climaxed by a boat cruise on the Ohio River on Saturday evening.

The Xavier vs. Dayton homecoming game ended in a 28-28 tie, with Xavier battling in the final seconds to maintain this score. 1973 Homecoming half-time saw the reinstatement of the Homecoming Queen tradition along with the establishment of the position of Homecoming King. # SENIORS

So short seem the four long years;
So familiar the once strange faces.
Yet, now the journey ends,
A new trail stretches ahead
With timeless years
And countless new faces.

The senior class has experienced a variety of changes during its years at Xavier. The welcoming of a new president and the inaugurating of the University Senate have footnoted administrative reorganization. Academically, the senior class has seen the institution of an evaluation system, the experimentation of pass/fail, and the construction of a TV studio on campus. Within student government, a Speakers Program and a student book exchange have been actively sponsored. In addition, the revival of Commuter Council and the guarantee of Black seating on Student Senate have been initiated. New dorm policies include housing for women, open house, senior wings, and the senior board plan. The Class of '74 has seen in athletics the end of intercollegiate football but also the beginning of women's intercollegiate competition. The years together have stressed the development of the person's ability to meet the challenges of the next phase of life. Regardless of where one goes, Xavier has become a part of him.

Evaluation.

Doctors Ernest Fontana and Roger Fortin selected as Teachers of the Year.

The students of the 1973-1974 school year saw a number of innovations in the academic area. Among new courses added to the schedule were Philosophy of Woman and Zoos Are Classrooms. In this past year, the Xavier Community also witnessed a return of the nine-hour inter-disciplinary course Revolutions and Counterrevolutions.

The core curriculum was the subject of several investigations. One result of this increased concern was an overhaul of the core courses, particularly those offered by the philosophy and theology departments. Meanwhile, teachers and students sought to make teacher and course evaluations a more meaningful method of approaching the problems which remain.

Track and Soccer

The spring of 1974 was a time of birth for two intercollegiate sports at Xavier: track and soccer.

Both of these teams, organized through student initiative, posted promising results in their first season. Still in the formative stages, their schedules included scrimmages with a number of "big-name" schools. Although the results of these contests did not often find Xavier in the winning column, the performances of both these new teams elicited many favorable comments from opposing coaches and players.

At a time when finances were tight in the athletic quarter, track and soccer both put in propitious bids as possible replacements for football.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Students;
Underclassmen;
Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen; at Xavier, often indistinguishable.

Xavier:
small enough and close enough to be a family, yet, large enough and diverse enough to be a university.
Xavier University is its students and what they make of it.

The Underclassmen at Xavier during the 1973-1974 school year represented a group of young people quite different and distinct from that which supplied the universities with their students three years ago. Student demonstrations became a thing of the past. The Kent State killings no longer served as a rallying point of our nation's youth. Even the Vietnam War was "over." One national publication even went so far as to assert that students attending America's universities had returned to their books, that they were becoming serious about studying and learning. Xavier students followed this national trend.

Increased student concern about the quality of required courses brought about numerous studies in the area of the core curriculum, especially those of the philosophy and theology departments.

Perhaps it was a lack of political issues which brought about the decrease in student activism; perhaps it was the fierce competition in the job market that increased the desire for learning. Whatever the reason, it was certain that a revival was taking place in the academic realm.

Mulligan Meets Board For Tuition Increase

The Rev. Robert W. Mulligan, S.J., President of Xavier University, has recently passed to the Board of Trustees a proposed increase of three dollars per credit hour in tuition rates and twenty-five dollars per semester in room and board fees, to take effect in the 1974-75 academic year.

The proposal has been criticized by Student Government President Tom Zeno on the grounds that students were given no voice in the decision and were not permitted to receive enough information to form intelligent opinions on the matter.

ORGANIZATIONS

A different type of classroom.

A club is organized on the will and timeless efforts of its members, growing and strengthening itself through dedication and ambition. The leaders and supporting members pictured in this section have united themselves, into working and rewarding organizations. The membership, individual yet varied, is held together by a common bond, by that purpose for which it was organized. Attainment of this purpose, by the united efforts of its members, is its success.

Over the past few years, Xavier's administration has undergone several changes, notably in its personnel. Father Mulligan has replaced Father O'Connor; Father O'Callaghan has stepped down from the position of Academic Vice-President.

Not only here but at nearly every level of the administrative ladder, resignations and reorganization have marked an effort to make the administration more effective in involving and serving the students.

Army ROTC.
Before you get the wrong idea, get the facts.

Some students think if they sign up for ROTC, they'll be in the Army.
FACT: There's no military obligation during your freshman and sophomore years of ROTC.

Some students think Army ROTC will take up a lot of time they could use for earning extra money.

FACT: ROTC takes up only about three to five hours a week. And during your last two years, you will be paid one hundred dollars a month, up to ten months a year.

Some students don't see how the Army can help their civilian career.

FACT: The management and leadership experience you get as an Army officer will help you in just about any career you choose.

To get all the facts about Army ROTC, write to: Army ROTC, Xavier University, Cincinnati, Ohio 45207, or call 745-3646.

Army ROTC. The more you look at it, the better it looks.

Congratulations

PLAN A PHONE-IN

When you have family members away from home or at school, establish a mutual time for your phone calls. This way you can take advantage of the low dial-it-yourself station-to-station rates.* Operator assisted calls, especially those placed person-to-person, can cost twice as much. When you dial your own calls it's faster, and what's more important, you save, and we do too.

Schueler's Ballrooms

total elegance . . .

The rule rather than the exception at Schueler's.

Of course that is what you want. Whether it is a prom, a dance, a banquet, or a wedding reception, you want it to be an occasion that you and your guests will remember and look back upon with fond memories for years to come.

Schueler's stresses variety and flexibility. For your buffet, select anything from ravioli to delicate French pastries, soft drinks to cocktails or potato chips to hors d'oeuvres.

Catering by Schueler's — Wedding Receptions our speciality. We wish to introduce catering in a grand manner, personalized service to you and your guests to complete your evening of happiness.

We have accommodations for up to 800 people and special prices during the week and on Fridays. Won't you stop in to see us? Our staff will be more than happy to answer any questions you have.

Revival is not always moving,
dynamic.
Any worthwhile accomplishment requires an occasional pause.
One needs to assess what has gone behind,
what he perceives ahead,
and,
by putting both in their proper perspective, to plan his action on the basis of what he sees.

All work
and no play . . .

"No peril
in the fight,
. . . no glory
in the triumph."

— Pierre Corneille

Faces are signs, signs are faces.
Signs of what we feel and faces of places we know.

Doing
the things we enjoy.

"Follow your own bent no matter what people say."

— Karl Marx

All of us at Xavier have reflected upon our God and upon our purpose in life. Many have looked toward religion for the solution and hence the religious activities are a central part of campus life. Our opportunities to worship God have given us a faith, and have guided our ideals. The values we hold as a result of this enable us to be operative throughout the rest of our lives.

Like life, education is an on-going, perpetuating awareness of self that must not be stifled by the smug assurance of obtaining the desired plateau.
Striving, seeking, and finding keynote an attitude of the true student — a refusal to become stagnated in personal contentment.
At the culmination of four years and the award of a Baccalaureate Degree, man does not immediately find the eternally cherished wisdom and insight for which he strives.
Rather, slow, painful experience elevates man to a new awareness of his own human situation and his role in a dynamic and sometimes hostile world.
Xavier's Jesuit philosophy offers an initial vision of self and society. Upon conferral of the degree, the student must develop and respond to his own vision of life in light of his judicial as well as philosophic role as critic.
Acceptance, rejection, or modification of this vision hinge upon the student and his sensitivity toward his situation.
Adequate assessment of this vision and mature assimilation of its meaning in terms of the individual can only be effected by the person.
Xavier aids man in developing an intelligent discrimination of fact for fancy, truth for falsity, goodness for evil, and art for sham.
But, man must take the initiative . . .

Acknowledgements

The staff wishes to express its special thanks to Pat McKenrick and Executive Studios for their tireless efforts. Also, thanks are due to our moderator Dr. Loraine Perlmutter, to the people in the Student Development Offices, to Mrs. Patty Waldbillig, Mrs. Jean Dye, Greg Whalen of Hunter Publishing Company and most especially to the students of Xavier for supporting our efforts and helping us get this project off the ground. Thanks!

Recently, there seems to be a great desire to return to the "good old days". So many people think that things are going continually downhill, that we are headed toward an inevitable doomsday.

Yet, the fact that young men and women continue to enroll in Christian institutions like Xavier, the fact that Xavier University exists, is living proof that there is hope left, that people, you and I, see something basically good in ourselves, in one another, in mankind.

Let's pray that that spirit is never lost.

It's so easy to see the bad, so hard the good.
